

Alycia Steinberg has worked on a broad range of health policy initiatives in Maryland, including launching new payment reform programs designed to align hospitals and physicians; providing early support to the state of Maryland on Affordable Care Act (ACA) implementation; implementing a Medicaid-financed primary care program for adults; and redesigning delivery systems for children with special health care needs. Alycia has extensive experience in the design, administration, and evaluation of Medicaid programs and was Maryland Medicaid's Deputy Director of Planning.

Currently Alycia coordinates Maryland's Care Redesign implementation, interfacing with the Maryland Hospital Association, hospitals, and the Health Services Cost Review Commission (HSCRC) to promote patient-centered care across the delivery system.

Alycia has been a featured speaker by White House, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, and the House Speaker regarding the effects of the ACA on families and children. She has a Master of Public Health degree from the University of Michigan and graduated Phi Beta Kappa from the University of California San Diego.

Dr. Yasmin Tyler-Hill is a pediatrician in Atlanta, Georgia and is affiliated with multiple hospitals in the area, including Children's Healthcare of Atlanta and Emory University Hospital. Dr. Tyler-Hill is the Department Chair and Professor in Pediatrics at Morehouse School of Medicine. She attended HoltonArms School in Bethesda, MD. To this day, she lives her life by the Holton's motto: "Inveniam Viam Avet faciam" - "I shall find a way or make one." She received her medical degree from Medical University of South Carolina College of Medicine and has been in practice for more than 20 years.

Dr. Tyler-Hill serves on various boards such as the Georgia Chapter of the American Academy of Pediatrics, the Georgia Pediatric Health Improvement Collaborative, and the Medical Home Task Force.

Dr. Tyler-Hill has been married for 32 years to Mr. Everett L. Hill, and is the mother of two children: Tyler, 27 a law student at Yale, and Simone, 23, an editorial assistant at TheKnot.com. She resides in Sandy Springs, Ga. Her hobbies are reading, traveling and gardening.

Kate Breslin is CEO of the Schuyler Center for Analysis & Advocacy. With Kate's leadership, the Schuyler Center is building upon its history as a strong, independent voice and coalition-builder that holds government accountable and helps shape public debate around policies that affect New York children and families.

Kate serves in leadership roles for statewide advocacy coalitions and State-initiated policy initiatives and has a history of policy advocacy with a focus on underserved populations.

Lindsey Angelats is Senior Strategy Advisor at First 5 LA. She works to sustain and grow evidence-informed and cost-effective population health interventions, including timely pediatric developmental screen, prenatal home visiting, and timely access to effect clinical services. She is First 5 LA's subject matter expert on managed care and Medicaid strategy.